CITY MATTERS.

W. A. Rogers, of New York, arrived in the city last night. He will remain several weeks.

The decorators will begin work on the wigwam to-morrow and it will be ready for the last of the week.

The pipe-organ in the Second Presbyterian church has just been taken down and put in first-class condition again by Prof. Fisher, assisted by I. N. Seaver.

Stated communication to-night of Anthony Lodge, F. and A. M., at which there will be degrees work. A full turnout of the brethren is desired and visiting brethren are especially invited.

Superintendent Dick, of Fernald cemetery, thinks the crowd attending Memorial Day exercises there this year, larger than it was last year. He estimates it well up in the thousands.

The city board of equalization is pitching in with a bill. One item of $22,000 cash, not returned by the assessor in one of the wards, was turned up and added to the return this morning. A few like that will make up all deficiencies.

Marshall Hughes wishes to give notice that hereafter he intends to file affidavits against the owners of stock found running at large, in place of impounding the animals, as heretofore. This will cost the owners of such stock all the way from $1 to $5 and costs.

Mr. B. O. Ellifrit exhibited in the editorial rooms of the Globe-Republic a magnificent specimen of the "Cactus Superbus," with an immense scarlet flower. Mr. Ellifrit has about sixty varieties of cacti, including the entire family of the night-blooming cereus.

The seventeen year locusts are coming out of the ground by regiments, fully armed and ready for an attack in force upon the vegetable kingdom, thus vindicating a correspondent of the G. R. who gave timely warning long ago. Up in Champaign county they have them with the letter "W" upon their wings, a sign of war.

Urban Daily Citizen: "John Emerson kept up the custom he has followed for years, and came up from Springfield to decorate the grave of his friend Edward Davis. Every year John attends this service on Decoration Day, and no grave receives a more liberal supply of flowers than does John's friend's. Such watchful care as has been observed by him for many years expresses a more friendly feeling than words can tell."

The commissioners looked up the tax return of one of the parties claiming compensation for sheep killed or injured by dogs, and found that the creature was not worth so much by several hundred per cent., to pay taxes upon, as they were to be killed by dogs. Circumstances that alter cases. It is thought the number of these claims at this quarterly meeting of the board, will be much less than usual and that claims allowed can be paid in full from funds on hand, in a few days.

Mr. B. K. Reed, of Gardingdon, O., brother of Mrs. Adin Barnes, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the settlement of the estate of Mr. Barnes, who was killed recently in the Ohio Southern yard, having been appointed and qualified administrator. He was accompanied by an attorney from Columbus, by whom he will bring suit in court, in behalf of the widow and family, for damages in the sum of several thousand dollars, probably $10,000, against the Ohio Southern Railway Company. Mrs. Barnes and her children are with relatives in Northern Ohio, but will return here in a few weeks to reside permanently, it is thought.

The Sandusky Register, of Monday, says: "The Dayton fishing party, represented by Major Bickham and Congressman Schultz, have entered into an arrangement with Judge Goode and Messrs. Leffel, Hamilton and other gentlemen of Springfield to club together hereafter in their visits to Pelee and engage a steamer to convey them to and from their fishing grounds in the lake. The essential point with fishermen is to go promptly and rapidly to desirable fishing quarters, devoting the time to sport, which is too frequently wasted in vain efforts and unsatisfactory results. This end will be secured hereafter by our visitors from the Miami and Mad River valleys."

Transfers of Real Estate.

Annie E. Granger to Horace L. Hansell, lot in "Liberty" estate: $1,800.

Daniel Winters to Totten & Dawson, lands in Greene and Clark counties: $7,000.

Station House.

Charles Harvey was arrested yesterday for loitering. Gottlieb Link and his wife were fined $1 and costs each yesterday for disorderly conduct. Gottlieb is the person implicated with Mrs. Dietrich in the affair mentioned in last night's paper. This misconduct, a report of which reached the ears of Mrs. Link, so enraged that good lady against her liege lord that she endeavored yesterday afternoon to do him up with a billiard cue. The result of the fuss was the above mentioned fine of $1 and costs for each of them. Mrs. Christ took a day off and filled up to her utmost capacity yesterday. She arrived at the station house in time to enjoy a prolonged and refreshing sleep last night. Thomas Anderson was run in by Mast and Boyd for drunk and disorderly conduct. John Cohen was arrested by Hays for violating the 10 o'clock ordinance.

CONVENTION COMMITTEE MEETING.

There was another meeting last night of the executive committee in charge of arrangements for the Republican State Convention, to hear reports of subcommittees. The committee on invitations, reception and entertainment had no reports to make. The finance man made a statement of funds so far as collected and paid out of the building fund. The building-committee reported "Convention Hall" completed according to contract, ready to be turned over to the executive committee today which has been done. The decoration-committee now takes charge. The committee on rooms for meetings stated a change had been made in the assignment of the committee on credentials, of the Convention. Action of direct interest to our citizens regarding the opening of the Hall will be elaborated upon to-morrow in these columns. About the most important action was upon report of the Press Committee, from which a statement was received that one hundred working members of the press of the State made requisitions for positions and increased accommodations would be required. Arrangements will be made accordingly. The printing committee is authorized to issue coupon tickets to members of the press, delegates alternates and any others entitled, and also return checks, which must be obtained of the door-keepers on leaving the hall and taken up by them on return of the holder of the check. So far as could be learned the machinery is all in complete working order and there is no fear of confusion or obstruction of business at any stage of the convention. All reports indicate the largest attendance from all parts of the State of any similar gathering for years.

VOCAL SOCIETY BANQUET.

One of the pleasantest social events in this city for some time was the banquet of the Vocal Society at their hall last evening. The hall presented a thoroughly festive appearance, with two long tables, ornamented with snowy cloths and graining with delicias. The tables were prepared by the deft fingers of Mrs. Humphreys, and Misses Albin, Watt and Miller, and the ladies much credit by their beautiful appearance. The early part of the evening was spent in converse, followed by an enjoyable musical programme. The musical programme was opened by a stirring chorus from Balfe, by a double quartet, consisting of Misses Foley, Falconer, Lowe and Simpson, and Messrs. Gunn, Williams, Humphreys and Linn. These being the younger members of the society, they were much applauded for their efforts. This number was followed by a recitation by Miss Fanny Rowe, delivered in her usual pathetic and earnest manner. The society was next favored by a duet between Mrs. Humphreys and Mrs. Williams. Mr. Harry Humphreys played the accompaniment. The voices harmonized very nicely and the ladies were greeted with much applause. A trio, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Kilmer and Miss Melly-Wait, next rendered a trio from Bellini in such fine style as to make it the most enjoyable number on the programme. The composition is full of fine harmony, and the perfect intonation of the voices enhanced its effect. Miss Laura Cord and Mr. Frankenberg next rendered a duet in fine style, which was followed by a bass solo sung in unison by Messrs. Putnam, Seever and Sam Burback, the effect being much enjoyed by the audience. Miss Anna Miller followed in a beautiful solo song by Matell. The composition with its embellishments and delicate execution is exactly suited to Miss Miller's high, pure soprano voice, and was much enjoyed, as the hearty applause testified. Miss Marie Miller played the accompaniment in an artistic manner. Messrs. Putnam, Kilmer, Frankenberg and Sam Burback closed the first part of the programme with a fine male quartet, receiving and generously responding to an encore. The Vocal Society then rendered a number of choruses from the Elijah, giving a foretaste of the enjoyment of their concert next fall, when the entire orchestra will be given.

The next number on the programme was a prestissimo attack on the banquet, which the guests did full justice to, and remained far into the night in pleasant social converse and the revival of musical memories of the past year. The society closed the present musical season with the consciousness of having accomplished much solid work during the year, the rendition of the Messiah alone being an occasion on which they may look back and enjoy with just pride.

OTENBERGER VISITS HIS WIFE.

The Residents of Bath Township Turn out as They Would to a Circus—Mrs. Ottenberger's Statement.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in compliance with an order of Judge Hays, Deputy Sheriff Dodge and Liebhart and James Corry accompanied William Ottenberger, the child murderer, to Hufferville to see his wife, who is in the last stage of consumption. The party drove over in a carriage and Ottenberger evidently enjoyed the ride, as he chatted at a lively rate all the way over, something quite unusual for him. When the party reached the house of Mrs. Drexel in Hufferville, they found that the surrounding country had turned out in force to get a glimpse of Ottenberger, and it looked more like a county fair than a party scene between husband and wife. A large number of the people present were relatives of the prisoner and they completely filled the house of Mrs. Drexel, Ottenberger's mother-in-law. The prisoner had prepared a statement in writing which he gave to his relatives to read. They related to a separate room to peruse the document and when they returned were all in tears. While his relatives were absent from the room Ottenberger called the officers to his wife's bedside to hear a school-teacher as wished to make. He stated that the dead child was treated well by Ottenberger and was, in fact, a great favorite of his; that the child returned the affection and would always run to meet him when he came home from his work. In regard to the child's screams which were testified to by witnesses, she stated that it was not she (Mrs. Ottenberger) who had arrived on the scene and taken the child on her lap that it screamed. Ottenberger's parting with his wife was quite affecting. He bid her good bye and started to leave the room when the child, who was called back to her bedside. This was too much for Ottenberger, who, up to this time had maintained his usual stolidity, and he burst into tears. Several times he started to leave and his wife would call him back, and finally the officers were compelled to put an end to the scene by placing him in the carriage and driving off. On leaving the house they met large numbers of people from Osborn and the surrounding country, who had learned of Ottenberger's presence among them, and turned out to get a glimpse of him.—Xenia Gazette, June 1.
